ENVIRONMENTAL PRODUCTS DECLARATION

Date: June 18, 2021

Products Covered: Fabricated Hollow Structural Steel Sections

Under the Buy Clean California Act, Hanna Steel Corporation meets the definition of a “fabricator,” because it acquires steel coils manufactured by other entities (“Manufacturers”) and converts the steel coils to finished products. As a result, Hanna is currently not required to develop an Environmental Product Declaration (“EPD”) establishing the global warming potential (“GWP”) for the processes it uses to convert steel coils to steel tubing. While EPDs are not currently available from the Manufacturers Hanna procures coil from, based upon currently available information and industry studies, Hanna believes that the steel coil purchased by Hanna does not exceed the category specific Maximum Acceptable GWP limits established by the California Department of General Services pursuant to the Buy Clean California Act.
